

Good afternoon Ee Hiang,

The ISEP programme to me was a fantastic opportunity, to both us, parents, and our daughter. My foster kid made it easy for me, too. She had a really bubbly personality, very chatty, outgoing and also showed a caring side when she thought I was not well. I really did not have any problems with her except when she fell ill. I was worried that if her flu dragged on, she won't be able to participate in the activities. Thank God she recovered. She was also very obedient whenever I asked the girls to clean up their room. No grumbles or attitude problem.

I really hope Tamara enjoyed it here. She looked it, though! Her homesickness was not too bad. A little, initially and when Damien Pepper came down. But I made sure I hugged her now and then and gave her a kiss good night every night so that she felt more at home.

I really do hope Andrea gets to go experience life there. It will be a fantastic opportunity for her. Not to mention it will look good on her CV, too!

I would like to thank the ISEP committee, firstly, in selecting my family to participate. Thank you also for the immense effort, time and even money that you all put in so selflessly. And you all had such grace in handling all the problems that arose. Could not have been easy at all, and it must seem like a thankless job sometimes. But I really appreciate everything that you all had done. Whenever I have needed any assistance or queries during this programme, you were all so helpful.

P/S Ee Hiang, sorry this is a bit late. Did not open my emails till last night.

Hi Aunty Ee Hiang,

Andrea here. I really enjoyed my experience with Tamara. She was very friendly, humble and also caring. Not only Tamara but I also got to know more about the Malaysian culture during the homestay. I bonded with the other Australians too. It was very fun indeed. I hope Tamara also had enjoyed her stay here in Malaysia. It was a very fun day at Sunway Lagoon. Me and Tamara had bonded so much and now, we are practically sisters now. This is all I can write for now. Bye. :D
